

Cultivating District-Level “Systems Leadership” for Continuous Improvement

“No amount of external accountability will be effective in the absence of internal accountability.” – Richard Elmore

ACSA and InnovateEd are partnering to provide a “Systems Based” Leadership Institute for District Level Leadership Teams to support districts in transitioning their LCAP Plan into a dynamic tool that drives student success.

This powerful four-day institute will equip district leadership teams with insight and resources into the four disciplines of “Systems Leadership”, proven to increase both district and site-driven improvement efforts and enhance internal capacity and accountability.

Suggested Audience: District teams made up of superintendents, members of cabinet (including the Chief Business Official), lead school principals, as well as district leaders in the areas of Curriculum and Instruction, Professional Learning, and Student Services.

The District Level “Systems Leadership” Institute will emphasize:

- Developing “systems coherence” to increase leadership capacity and teaching/learning supports
- Educational neuroscience
- Fostering fantastic school and district culture
- Leading district-wide systems of continuous improvement focused on evidence of student learning
- The neuroscience of effective leadership and capacity building
- Coherence between ESSA, LCAP, Common Core & Systems Leadership

Each institute is constructed of four (4) days. There are several locations to choose from. One fee pays for all four days. Please attend all 4 days:
